Woodbury County Conservation Foundation

What do you value most in our natural world?

For nearly 30 years the Woodbury County Conservation Foundation (WCCF) has educated others about our natural resources to provide avenues for people to conserve and protect our local natural treasures.

WCCF believes that outdoor experiences are essential for developing a love and respect for the natural world. You can help WCCF protect our natural areas for future generations and teach others about their significance.

Here’s what your gifts allow us to do:

- Enhance the Discovery Forest Nature Playscape at the Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center which provides numerous ways for children & families to reconnect with nature through outdoor play. In 2019 musical chimes and a turtle sculpture was added.

- Provide support for a Raptor House at the Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center to house educational birds of prey—a Barred Owl and Red-tailed Hawk. More than 3,000 people received direct programming with our birds of prey.

- Provide experience for a college student through a paid summer internship to help restore several acres of Loess Hills prairie.

- Co-sponsor Summer Day Camps that reach 300 youth, including camp scholarships.

- Sustain an Endowment Fund within the Siouxland Community Foundation that allows for tax free gifts to WCCF and provides Iowa Tax Credits for donors.
